Believe it or not, floor cleaners can be a controversial topic – depending on what type of flooring you have.

A floor cleaner that might work well for one household could destroy the flooring in another.

So it pays to pay attention.

What's the best natural floor cleaner on the market?

Chatting about our favourite cleaning products in the office the other week (as we do), there was a clear winner for cleaning the floors: Koala Eco's natural floor cleaner.

"I use Koala Eco's floor cleaner, and it smells like Christmas," said one of my colleagues.

Another said: "My favourite floor cleaner ever."

Naturally, I wanted to find out more.

Koala Eco "doesn't leave a sticky residue"

The reviews on the Koala Eco website are just as glowing.

"I love cleaning my home with Koala Eco!!" wrote one reviewer. "The floor cleaner smells fantastic and doesn't leave a sticky residue on the floors after mopping. I cannot recommend this product more!"

Another added: "I absolutely love this floor cleaner! It does an amazing cleaning job and it smells glorious! You won't use anything else once you've tried this.

Another shared their experience after using it on dark wooden floors.

"I have dark wooden floors which always show streak marks when cleaning. This is the first product I've used that cleans the floors and doesn't leave marks. And it smells amazing! I'm obsessed with these products."
