1. Charming, playful and elegant these lamps are just like their maker.
2. Made in the land where they know swimwear well, this is the latest addition to my collection. Loads of colors, shapes and sizes made to fit most, I'm already planning my next trip to the beach with this piece sitting at the top of my suitcase.
3. We were lucky enough to have Lily come over and start our little vegetable garden this summer, and now I'm dreaming of our next, and bigger, project together. Gardening has taught me patience and persistence, two concepts I'll take away and apply to the rest of life as well.
4. Having just finished her book, I immediately reached out to see about working together. Her poetic, practical and persuasive take on spirituality spoke deeply to me. Let her speak to you. Her books are open.
5. Shake it, don't break it. I find myself reaching for this little jar everytime I sit down to eat. And with three different flavor profiles, there's always something to satisfy.
6. Her staid yet art driven pieces are the ones to reach for when you want both polish and punk. I see a gallery night ahead.
7. Classics are classics for a reason. This recently reissued 30 year anniversary copy of my much loved Marcella cookbook is a special addition to any cook's library. And yes the tomato sauce is that good.
8. Home cleaning supplies have long been neglected in the world of naturals. But not anymore. This range is clean, effective and smells beautifully thanks to the use of Australian essential oils. My favorite is the Lemon Myrtle and Mandarin. You?
9. Sober October is almost done, but if you choose to keep it going (do it!) here's another addition to your "liquor" cabinet. This smokey and nuanced blend is one to add to your cocktail hour any day, or month, of the year.
10. I've long loved all she creates, and her latest foray into the wild, wavy world of entertaining pieces has me planning my next dinner party.
