

JOIN THE COLONY

We're looking for someone with the energy, attention to detail and work ethic of a honeybee and an equal love of honey!

PART TIME: HONEY WAREHOUSE ASSISTANT

This position requires 2-3 full days per week, with the flexibility to add more days when necessary during the busy crop season.

The role is perfect for someone who enjoys variety in their day and has a careful hand!

You will be trained by our expert team in carefully bottling our amazing runny honeys and cutting our delicate and delicious pure honeycomb, also helping to carefully pack and dispatching our lovely customer orders while leaving our 'hive' in a perfect tidy state.

On some occasions we may also want help in our Saturday Spa Terminus shop so customer experience and a degree of flexibility to working 2-3 days would be ideal. We are looking for someone with a genuine passion for food and honey, who has fantastic attention to detail and a real willingness to learn and develop new skills.

KEY RESPONSIBILITIES:

- Production room operative: following the daily production plan, setting up and operating the bottling and labelling machinery with a focus on quality production
- Cutting fresh honeycomb frames
- Planning and preparation management
- Helping with honey extraction during the busy beekeeping season
- Accurately maintaining records associated with honey packing and food hygiene
- Packing orders to the highest standard, ready for dispatch
- Booking & checking deliveries in and out of the warehouse
- Ensuring orders leave the warehouse accurately fulfilled, on schedule and looking beautiful
- Maintaining working areas in a clean, safe and tidy state, ready to go again

ESSENTIAL SKILLS AND CAPABILITIES:

- A passion and interest in honey and food production
- Self-motivated and great time management
- Attention to detail and pride in detail and presentation
- Requires some heavy lifting
- Willingness to learn and develop new skills
- Great team player and communicator, able to integrate and work well with other members of the team
- Flexibility and adaptability to the varied daily tasks
- Able to prioritise between different daily tasks
- Good written and conversational English

THE DETAILS:

- Location: London Based with regular travel across London and the south
- Type: Part time, 2-3 days, with flexibility.
- Hours: 9am 6pm (Saturdays 9 am 2.30pm)
- Salary: £TBC

ABOUT THE LONDON HONEY COMPANY

Founded by an ex-photojournalist turned beekeeper back in 1999, The London Honey Company are renowned producers of the finest British single origin, raw honey and honeycomb.

We are beekeepers to some of the capital's most iconic rooftops including Fortnum and Mason and the Tate art galleries. As well as managing beehives for top clients, we also tend to our own hives across the country, from Kent to Shropshire. Our honeycomb is now a regular feature on the plates of leading chefs including Angela Hartnett, Marcus Waring and Skye Gyngell, as well as on the shelves of the finest food halls in London and on the continent.

The London Honey Company operates from a railway arch in Spa Terminus, Bermondsey. Spa Terminus is an area of like-minded businesses dedicated to quality food production and distribution, on Saturdays ourselves and a large number of other businesses in the neighbourhood open our doors for the general public to buy food.

Our products can also be purchased through our online shop, in quality food stores across the country and select outlets abroad.

To Apply:

Please send an email to hello@thelondonhoneycompany.co.uk explaining why you are the right candidate to join the team and a CV demonstrating your education and experience so far. We look forward to hearing from you.
