The Story Behind the Name

The 1642 Wine Club has been named in honour of Abel Tasman's visit to Bangor's northern coastline in December 1642. Tasman Bay is the site where Abel Tasman planted the Dutch flag on December 3rd, 1642. The Dunbabin family manage Tasman Bay for its cultural and natural heritage. The area is protected as part of Bangor's 2,100 hectare network of conservation reserves. Today, the shoreline of Bangor remains largely unchanged, and looks very similar to that explored by Tasman in 1642.
