

Jimmy's Hill Reserve Bangor Pinot Gris

Fermented and gently aged on lees in large format old French oak barrels, Jimmy's Hill Reserve is a standout wine displaying elegant, full fruit character balanced perfectly with the subtlest hint of vanilla and almond.

We made only 780 bottles of this special 2018 Gris. Jimmy's Hill Reserve is an elegant wine, perfect on its own, or can be enjoyed with, shellfish, Tasmanian artisan cheese and fresh summer salads.

Hand-picked late March 2018

Barrel fermented

Aged on lees 10 months in large format old French oak

14.2% abv

Boutique - 65 cases made fruity

baked apple | pear | nectarine

medium bodied cellar 5 years

hint of oak

Jimmy's Hill The Story

Rising a commanding 1002 ft, Jimmy's Hill is Bangor's highest point and one of Tasmania's convict era semaphore stations. With a simple hut for shelter, Jimmy, the rugged bushman who called the remote outpost home, maintained a vigilant eye on adjacent stations, standing by to relay messages.

Back in the early days of the colony there was a network of semaphore stations around both the Forestier and Tasman Peninsulas, and between Port Arthur and Hobart Town. They were used for relaying messages around the colony (the email/text messaging system of the day), and they could relay a message from Port Arthur to Hobart Town in just 15 minutes. Jimmy ran the semaphore station here at Bangor, so the hill became locally known as Jimmy's Hill, as it is still known today.

