A large, faint watermark of a crest is visible in the background of the left page. The crest features a shield with a central figure, possibly a lion or a similar heraldic animal, and is surrounded by decorative flourishes and text that is difficult to read.

We think a sportcoat should be something you can live - and move - in, unlike the straitjacket mold from which many on the market today have been cut. So we made ours as nonrestrictive as a sweater, with full cut sleeves, functioning cuffs, and back slit hem for movement. To enhance supple feel, there is a rayon split back lining with a brushed plaid flannel that drapes beautifully. The fabric is plush, extra thick 6 wale corduroy. At last, a sportcoat that truly lives up to its name!

Originally styled in the early 1940's worn by Flying Tigers in the Pacific Rim. Crafted from first-quality matched cowhides to the actual Army Air Corps spec. Every detail from the original is here plus one handy innovation: reversible wool herringbone inside that could be worn on outside. Otherwise, it is so true to its inspiration that we even added one final dimension to take it all the way - a subtle buffing that adds a few years of wear to the leather. A tough cockpit jacket that weighs little for all the warmth and versatility!

FALL

The classic leather flight jacket originally worn by Navy pilots had three limitations: the fur collar was occasionally too warm, the goatskin was so glossy finished that the jacket looked eternally brand-new; and there was no hand pockets. Our own version preserves iconic attributes such as bi-swing back, but we have made sheep skin shearling collar detachable and have added side entry pockets. We chose velvety cowhide suede and have added soft 100% wool herringbone inside lining, and finally buffed it a little so the suede jacket looks lived-in before its maiden flight.

Men's wide wale relaxed corduroy pants. Soft, velvety, and big ribbed this luxurious corduroy is a far cry from the rough-and-tumble fabrics of our younger years. We selected this thoroughbred textile for the thoroughly relaxed trousers. With elastic and draw-corded waistband, slash side pockets, and patch back pockets our Cabin Pant strikes another victory for form and function without ignoring life's little comforts.

From this extraordinary wool herringbone fabric we have styled and elegantly understated blazer with a clean contoured fit, suitable for most occasions. Shoulders have been softly padded; elbows and under-collar have been reinforced with supple suede. The welcoming ease of a back slit frees arms and shoulders either for a stroll in the park, for casting a fishing line on a lake, or stretching on the armchair in the boardroom. Versatility of this piece is unmatched!

Saddlers and boot makers once finished their leathers on the table covered with lambskin. Over time, as the lambskin was smoothed and stretched, it tempered to a patina far surpassing that of the skin it was meant to protect. We took this supremely malleable leather off the bench and gave it its chance to shine, in a jacket that's all the great leather jackets you ever wanted. The style is simple and classic, and the hard-earned character of this special leather will only mature and mellow, however you employ it!

CPO jacket - another great invention that comes to us from US Navy and North East of US. The North East is a rugged land awashed by frequent Nor'easters. The cold there is snappy and it calls for a jacket that can snap back and forth and take a lot of abuse. Clarkson Jacket is made of finest cotton and lined with soft and warm cotton flannel. Two roomy side pockets, chest pockets for other stuff... We can guarantee that this jacket earns more character every year it does its job!

A world without Lounge Pant? Unthinkable! Yet true lounge pant is virtually an endangered species. No one makes them well anymore. What can one do in these? Well, napping is just one thing you can do in this versatile, and above all practical garment. The luxurious, cloud soft, brushed cotton twill flannels drape like a dream; they are soft yet resilient, woven in a traditional technique that involves dyeing individual yarns and crisscrossing them in a mid-size, intricate plaids. These are the pants that our customers have instructed us to make. The pants that can sit on a sofa for days, that can be on a plane for hours and not developing a wrinkle. What you see is what you get! You have asked for it and finally - It is here!

SOFT DOUBLE CLOTH SHIRTS

Gilded Age didn't invent plaids. We didn't even invent double cloth, no Sir!
But it's a fun fact that Gilded Age was the FIRST to take double cloth
(also known as double-face) and make a shirt out of it in 2007.
Since then, there were many copycats out there, but still - to this day,
Gilded Age double-faced shirts are the best!

WIDE LEG HOUSTON

Originally styled in the late 1930's, worn by folks on farm stands and factory floors. Crafted from first-quality matched sheep-hide to Gilded Age specks and 2021 design. Every detail from the 1930's ancestors is here: front pleats, lower chest pockets, shank buttons, side entry pockets. To stay true to its inspiration we've EVEN added one final dimension to take it all the way - a few years of "wear" to the leather.

Over the years we've examined, tested and lived with virtually every quality of leather offered in the high end market, and played with many different leather jackets designs. We have combined all the best features of all the best jackets, and came up with this one very special jacket at one very special price. Our Deck Jacket first and foremost is inspired by the original, which was designed for US Navy sailors stationed on the decks of the aircraft carriers in early 1940's - thus the Deck Jacket. Like the original, ours is cut one at a time, with the finest grade skin, matched impeccably by hands. Eighty years later, no other jacket does it quite as well, and ours- the most authentic, the most detailed - would take a gold medal in any competition. Any time you're ready Louis Vuitton.

From downtown, to uptown. From the country home to the Rockies, Gilded Age Morrison garment dyed 5 pocket in soft hues of stone, blues and rusty reds is a perfect second option to the jeans. It fits like jeans, it wears like jeans (which is to say, forever). But they can go where blue washed dungarees simply can't. A pair of pants that transcends conditions- climate & topography. How much ground you cover, it is strictly up to you!
