Katja lives and works in Sacramento, California, but was raised in the midwest. She's the owner of Total Spectrum Speech, Inc where she specializes in working with autistic clients using the Natural Language Acquisition framework to further language development. Before starting her practice she worked in the public schools for 2 years, where she gained much experience with AAC use, as well as a variety of other speech and language related needs. In her free time, she loves to hang out with my dog Bandit, travel, try new foods, and lift weights.
