Comment

Pink, pale colour, light and transparent. The nose is positively austere with subtle Pinot aromas, which carries through to the palate, complemented by the gently fragrance and structural firmness of Syrah and Malbec.

Comparable to a dry, non-floral white wine, this Rosé ticks all the boxes for a great summer lunch wine or simply as an aperitif with some tasty canapes.

The Pinot Noir and Syrah components were made from free-run juice without skin contact whereas the Malbec was left on skins for one day and then lightly pressed.
