Comment An expressive, cool climate Syrah showing physiological ripeness and complexity without excessive alcohol. The wine opens with bright, cassis fruit and ripe spices (i.e. not white pepper – more cracked black or Sichuan) before revealing a lifting minerality and violet florals. The palate is full, complex and follows through on the wine's earlier promise of juicy dark berries. There's a lovely texture provided by layered fine tannins, balanced acidity and very subtle oak sweetness.

Short description Expressive cool climate Syrah showing ripe cassis fruit, florals and spice before revealing a textured palate with an elegant, linear finish. (June 2017)
