Comment

A Pinot Gris that shows both complexity and textural drive without shunning its inherent varietal charm. Opening with aromas of ripe nashi pears, citrus and subtle honeycomb it also reveals a savoury element of raw almonds and baker's yeast. The palate is rich and full with a fine structure that leads into a long finish bound by cleansing minerality. Fermented and aged in a third 228L French barrels, a third 600L French barrels and the remaining in small horizontal stainless steel tanks.

Short description

An attractive and textural Pinot Gris with good palate weight, combining pear, almond and floral aromas with clean minerality. (September 2014)
