Comment Intense, bright black plums and dark cherries with subtle mocha aromas and an underlying savouriness. On the palate, again generous cherry/plum fruit with trademark Brancott Valley spice. Ripe fine tannins contribute to a lovely silky texture. An expansive wine of refined structure and elegance – a juxtaposition of power and finesse.

Short description Generous aromas of dark fruit and spice. A dense robust wine with ample fruit concentration complimented by balancing acid. All contributing to a elegant long finish. (March 2012)
