Comment From Marlborough's iconic hillside vineyard this Pinot was rich and generous with pin point precision. Its penetrating deep nose opens with concentrated dark fruit (blackberries, black cherries) and subtle fragrant spice. The aromas then unravel into black rose petal florals, integrated oak and focusing minerality. The palate is full with bold ripe tannins, firm structure and balanced acidity. A substantial wine that will reveal its inherent elegance with time. Clearly benefitting from the favourable conditions that most of the 2014 growing season experienced, it was also totally unaffected by the significant, late rains.

Short description Pristine dark fruit aromas, dense and concentrated, well-structured, with ripe tannin support backed by ample fruit weight and balanced acidity. (December 2015)
