

So What Should I Get for the Person Who Has Everything?

SHOUT IT OUT PUBLISHED ON TUESDAY, 29 NOVEMBER 2016 14:55 STACIE M. WALDMAN

One thing that Scarsdale resident Valerie Neustadt never liked was picking up a slimy, used bar of soap in someone's guest bathroom. It felt, well, used. She finally decided that there had to be a more personalized way to treat house guests. Valerie had recently left a career in fashion and wanted to bring that extra touch to a rather mundane household item. Thus began her venture into the business world as she brought single use, olive oil-based, disposable soap chips to market under the name Valsey and Me.

Valsey and Me all-natural soaps are 1" x 2" in size and individually wrapped so you can say goodbye to germs. (We all have those friends who are germ freaks.) They are packaged in an attractive, paper mache box of your choosing and can be personalized not only with your choice of font and ribbon color but with the customer's own message. Messages are as creative as the sender and Valerie is always happy to help. Popular customization examples include:

Happy Holidays!
The Schwartz family

Hazel guests

Welcome!
Casa Smith

There are eight unique scents from which to choose: Apple cider, lavender oatmeal, milk almond and honey, white grapefruit, strawberries and cream, cinnamon orange, lemon verbena and cranberry rose. You can mix and match the scents or order exclusively one.

Valsey and Me soaps have adorned bathrooms in the homes of celebrities such as Tom Cruise, Liam Neeson, Reese Witherspoon and former NBA basketball player and Westchester resident Isaiah Thomas. The Chicago Tribune called these soaps, "the greatest housewarming gift since the potted plant." They have been featured by Hoda and Kathie Lee, Oprah, In Style Magazine and have been displayed at a number of high profile weddings.

If you are in search of something different for your favorite Scarsdale resident (who may seem like they have everything), teacher, boss or in-law, these wonderful soaps present beautifully. They also make for unique corporate gifts.

In honor of Valsey and Me's 10th anniversary, customers are being treated to 25% off all soap orders before December 20th. Just visit www.valseyandme.com and enter code Holiday10583 at checkout. Be sure to check back in the new year as they will be launching all-natural, personalized liquid soap in early 2017. Stay clean!
