

DALMATIA[®]'S NEW ORGANIC ROSE HIP SPREAD WINS AT THE sofi AWARDS

Elizabeth, NJ— Dalmatia Organic Rose Hip Spread was awarded bronze from the Specialty Food Association's sofi Awards in the category of Fruits Spreads, Jams, and Jellies. With more than 1,800 entries this year, this accolade signifies innovation and sky-high quality. Products are evaluated on taste, ingredient quality, and originality.

The sofi Awards is in its 47th year of celebrating culinary creativity from across America and around the world. Each year, a panel of expert judges, including chefs, culinary instructors, recipe developers, food journalists and specialty food buyers, blind taste specialty products to select the best of the best.

Dalmatia, distributed exclusively by Atalanta, crafts a line of sweet and savory jams and spreads from the eponymous Dalmatia on Croatia's beautiful Adriatic coast. The products are all-natural, prepared by hand, and made with the highest quality fruits, herbs, and flowers to create superb flavors. Their excellence has been recognized with four sofi awards in the last 16 years.

Rose hips, the fruit of rose plants, are the star in Dalmatia's Organic Rose Hip Spread. These super fruits are rich in Vitamin C and bursting with antioxidants. Their aromatic flavor and gentle fragrance intoxicate. This delicious spread can turn an ordinary dish into a culinary delicacy. Mix with plain yogurt, serve with cheese, spoon over vanilla ice cream, or use to make elegant jam-filled cookies.

Atalanta is part of the Gellert Global Group, which is active in restaurant operations and non-food industries such as real estate investments. Sister companies include Camerican International, Finica Food Specialties, JF Braun, and Tipico Cheese Products.
