Hey skateshop pals,
...the last time we sent these tees out the world was pretty different huh? Global pandemics were a thing from the past, artificial intelligence was a thing from the future, your gas bill was less than a grand a month and skateboard decks were $£ 50$. Dunno what happened in the interim, but we are glad to still be here.

Sadly the golden harvest that should have followed the Olympics didn't really materialise. Instead of basking in the sweet waterfall of cash that competitive skateboarding was supposed to send flowing over our boughs, we find ourselves clinging to the wreckage of globalism amidst a sea of unsold skateboards.

But that's all fine! One way or another we're gonna make it. The culture of skateboarding is stronger than the forces of economic destruction that are sweeping the globe. We have all been through ups and downs in skateboarding's popularity and compared to the last time things are still pretty good.

There are still enough independent shops for skaters to be able to travel to new places and hook up with new friends. To find a spot to skate, a place to crash, a party to visit. The culture is still alive and it's able to weather any storm and we'll pop out the other side even stronger.

To help feed the fire of hope, we wanted to send another missive to the massive to bump that positive energy and maybe spark some collaborative action! Big up all the independents, big up the UK skate scene, big up every skater getting out there and rolling and creating the spirit we all share. Hope you're all doing ok out there and here's some stuff we made for you.

Just like last time we'd love to get some UK shop tees on the rack here at CSC so people can check them out. If you want to send us one back, go for it. If you want us to pay for it, we're down for that too! Just pick your best shirt for us to buy! Big love. Support independent skate businesses and let's just all try to get out of here in one piece :D
