

Media Release Form

We have built our business on showing what is possible when people are given a chance. We want to show the world what people with special needs and disabilities can do and that a business can succeed because they give people a chance.

To fulfill that mission, we share the work we do with others and tell the story of our employees to others. Our employees provide inspiration for others and serve as role models. We turn much of the work we do into content that we can share. We do this by taking photographs and making videos that we share at our website, social media pages (e.g. Facebook, Instagram, etc.) and at public appearances as well as brochures or other written material we may prepare.

Therefore, we ask our employees, interns, trainees and guests to give us permission to use their images, voices, words and first names in material that we will publish. We ask you to sign and agree to the following:

I hereby authorize John's Crazy Socks to use my image, words and first name in photographs, videos and written material. I understand this information may be used in publications, including electronic publications, audiovisual presentations, promotional literature, advertising, community presentations, and media and/or other similar ways. My consent is freely given without expecting payment. I release John's Crazy Socks and their employees, officers and agents from any and all liability which may arise from the use of such news media stories, promotional materials, written articles, videotape and/or photographs.
