

Snuggle Up Stable

SAMPLE SCRIPT

SCENE TWO

Narrator One day, when the stable girl went to visit the stable, she took some extra hay, some extra straw and some blankets.

The stable girl walks to the stable and goes 'inside', carrying blankets and straw.

Mule What is the extra hay for?

Stable Girl It's a secret.

Goat What is the extra straw for?

Stable Girl It's a secret.

Cockerel What are the blankets for?

Stable Girl It's a secret.

Narrator The animals wondered what the blankets were for, but the stable girl wouldn't say. Then she sat down with the animals.

The animals thought this was very strange.

Animals (together) What are you doing stable girl?

Stable Girl I'm waiting.

Animals (together) What are you waiting for?

Narrator But the stable girl wouldn't tell the animals what she was waiting for.

The stable girl shakes her head slowly.

Stable Girl It's a secret.

Narrator What could the stable girl be waiting for? It must be something exciting.
The animals wanted to find out. What could it be?

So they all snuggled up together and waited.

WHAT ARE WE WAITING FOR?

What are we waiting for?

What are we waiting for?

What are we waiting for?

We don't know.

Will it be something nice?

Will it be something nice?

Will it be something nice?

We don't know.

Is it a big surprise?

Is it a big surprise?

Is it a big surprise?

We don't know.

What are we waiting for?

What are we waiting for?

What are we waiting for?

We don't know.

Narrator The stable girl and the animals waited and waited and waited.
(pause) Then the door opened.

Innkeeper Is everything ready?

Stable Girl Yes, Mister Innkeeper.

Narrator The animals thought that this was very strange too. What did they need to be ready for?

Then a beautiful lady and a man walked into the stable.

Stable Girl Hello Mary, hello Joseph.

Joseph (to the animals) We are going to sleep here tonight.

Mary I hope you don't mind?

Narrator The animals were very puzzled. Why would Mary and Joseph want to sleep in their stable? There wasn't much room after all.

Narrator But it was nice to be all snuggled up together, and as they made themselves comfortable, the animals began to get sleepy.

Narrator Before long the stable girl and the animals were all fast asleep.
