Updated and Open

» The National Occupational Analysis (NTOA) update Standard for Law Enforcement Personnel is a new document established to meet the needs of law enforcement agencies. It provides a core set of core competencies and standards for law enforcement services.

The NTOA does not mandate compliance with this standard or attach such compliance as a prerequisite for any benefit granted under membership. This and future versions of this standard are living documents. Download the latest version from the NTOA's website: NTOA.org/pdf/SWATstandards.pdf.

Use 2 different types of battery

» The ASP T1 DF (Dual Fuel) is a palm-sized light that's compact enough to pocket (adjustable/removable clip included). It uses either the included 16340 rechargeable battery (390 lumens through the Cree XPG LED) or a single CR123A primary cell (255 lumens). The T1's "Double Tap" feature accesses a low output level (15 lumens) with a quick second tap of the tailcap switch.

It allows in-light charging (micro USB adaptor included) with charge status indicator and an exclusive safety circuit preventing delivering current to incorrect or improperly-installed batteries. The T1 is compatible with the Tactical Light Case.

Drone footage for Evidence.com

» The Axon Air program allows law enforcement agencies to purchase drones from a trusted partner and links DJI's drone technology with Axon's connected data network and Evidence.com services. Within Evidence.com, the integrity of drone videos is preserved for the protection of police agencies and the public they serve.

Axon will partner with public safety agencies to identify the solutions that meet the demands of their communities and will bring drone video into the Axon Network of people, devices and apps.

Keep your flashlight secure

» ASP's Tactical Light Case (TLC) is no ordinary flashlight holster—it's a “protection, portation and presentation” solution that not only carries the light, but turns it into a hands-free illumination tool.

Simply turn the flashlight on, slide it lens-down into the TLC, then rotate the case into any of 12 positive click-stop positions. Illuminate what's in front of you, above you, or below you, or shine the light behind you so you can be seen.

The street-tough case has a heavy-duty clip that is adjustable to fit any duty or dress belt, and is MOLLE compatible. The TLC is available in a variety of sizes, to fit any ASP Triad, XT, Turbo, Guardian, Tungsten or Pro family flashlight.
