

ELIXIR COLLECTIVE NO. 3

COCO + CITRUS CREAM CLEANSER

This creamy cleanser is a refreshing wash for your face, body & hair. Crafted with liquid Castile Soap, Hawaiian Orange Hydrosol, Coconut Condensed Cream, Organic California Extra Virgin Olive Oil, and a blend of a few of my favorite citrus essential oils: Sweet Orange, Neroli & Green Mandarin. Shake gently before using as some separation is natural; use a few drops to wash your face, or a couple dropperfuls for your hair & body. The Coconut Cream & Olive Oil both keep your skin hydrated, while the various forms of Citrus offer a bright, uplifting scent along with potent cleansing powers.

HAWAIIAN ORANGE HYDROSOL

Hydrosols, also known as Distillate Waters, are actually the greater yield of essential oil distillation but somehow are often overlooked. The process of distilling involves plant material heated either within or above a water bath; the steam that results is then captured and surrounded by cold so that the steam condenses. The result is mostly condensed water, or hydrosol, with a very thin layer of oil, or essential oil, floating on top. The ratio of essential oil to hydrosol produced varies depending on how much oil the plant contains, but is generally around a fraction of a percent. Hydrosols still do contain essential oil, and are actually considered a 'colloidal suspension,' meaning that the oil is suspended in water: because they are technically much more dilute than essential oils, they are also much more gentle. The Orange Hydrosol used in this cleanser is from citrus grown & distilled on the Big Island by farm & oil distillery Vetiver Farms Hawaii.

COCONUT CONDENSED CREAM

I first fell in love with this cream as a sweetener for my morning oatmeal! Coconut is extremely nourishing to the skin and its fatty acid penetrate deeply to provide hydration. Antibacterial and antifungal properties help reduce and prevent blemishes, and the combination of antioxidants, vitamins & minerals help to repair & maintain elasticity for supple skin. In this blend, it helps to temporarily emulsify the oil, water & soap while providing a milky, silky quality.
