

Uniband®

UNIVERSAL APPROACH TO EXERCISE

Uniband® bands feature performance characteristics that cannot be achieved with latex bands.

Made with a 100% latex free elastomeric compound they exhibit the dynamic stretch properties of traditional bands with none of the disadvantages associated with the latex versions. Each level of band is made to an exacting specification that ensures consistent tension and evenly spaced resistance between each band level providing clinically sound Progressive Resistance Exercise (PRE). Uniband® provide a 100% latex free approach that is preferred by many patients and therapists over traditional latex bands.

- || 100% latex free
- || Powder free
- || Engineered for evenly spaced resistance levels from one colour level to the next
- || Excellent UV and chemical stability
- || Buoyant and resistant to swimming pool chemicals
- || Range of handles and accessories available

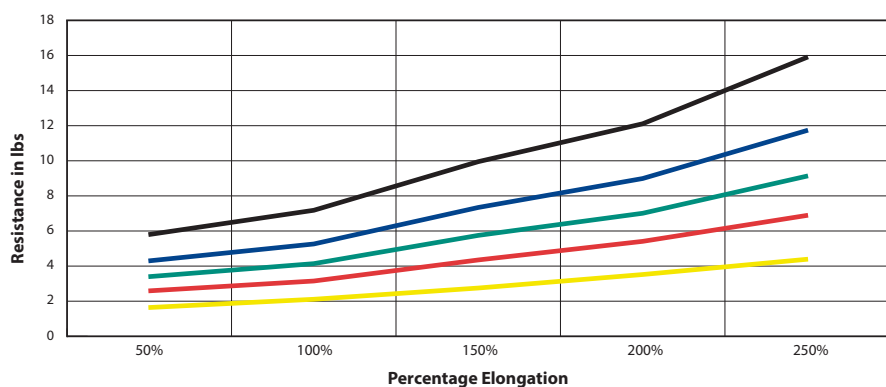

A universal approach to exercise

Uniband® - Superior Clinical Performance

Uniband® is manufactured from a 100% latex free material that has superior 'linear stretch'. Tests have demonstrated that some leading latex bands provide inconsistent or flawed resistance levels that may compromise clinical implementation of Progressive Resistance Exercises.

Elongation of Unibands

Uniband's unique polymer compound and precision engineering provide constant resistance levels for more clinically sound Progressive Resistance Exercise (PRE) Therapy.

Uniband® - Product Information

Uniband® Bands have been developed to achieve a more clinically sound approach to Progressive Resistance Exercises with Bands.
