

Honeymoon at Home

Words and Compiled LUCIE PALMER

The House in the Sea - Newquay, Cornwall

There is nothing quite like the feeling when you arrive at a beach and think 'wow'. After traveling just a few short hours to Cornwall you are greeted with some of the best coastlines and bays that England has to offer. The House in the Sea is just a short distance from the town of Newquay, home to Fistral beach. Along with an array of activities from surfing in the bay, a cliff top zip wire or a more romantic walk along the Camel Trail in the heart of the Cornish countryside.

The House in the Sea it is just that; With its entrance as a suspended footbridge high above the Cornish waters, it's unique and luxurious exterior is sure to amaze you from your first arrival. The second floor known as the 'top deck' offers beautiful sea views, and enjoy a romantic moment sitting side by side at the famous 'kissing tree' as you watch the sun go down.

Turtledove Hideaway - Whitchurch, Shropshire

If for your honeymoon you imagine a quaint countryside cottage surrounded by bright blossomed flowers a slow running stream, meadows as far as the eye can see, well Turtle Dove Hideaway is for you. 'Hideaway', is the perfect way to describe this cottage offering self catering accommodation with many nooks and crannies, this house leaves you stunned. Complete with its small private garden perfect for a romantic dinner or afternoon tea you will feel miles away from anyone else.

The interior of the cottage is beautifully decorated with a mix of vintage treasures and French furniture adding charm and character.

Everything from the inside out shouts attention to detail and sleeping on a mezzanine, the bed allows guests to feel relaxed in an open environment and even means you can shout your breakfast order from bed. A stay at the Turtle Dove will leave you feeling content and refreshed.

Priory Bay Hotel - Isle of Wight

With the soft scent of wild flowers and a salty sea breeze as you walk the woodland path straight onto your very own private beach, the Priory Bay has that sweet magical feeling. The hotel is set in 60 acres of picturesque greenery and has one of the finest grounds for seeing wildlife, everything from owls to butterflies. It even has its very own beehives for the hotel's organic honey, which is undoubtedly a must have with breakfast. If it's a romantic coastal walk or a private beach getaway you seek, you may want to put the Isle of Wight on your honeymoon wish list.

The rooms in the hotel itself are charming whether you opt for an Elizabethan wood paneled room or choose to bring the outside in with a seaside theme you are sure to find relaxation and tranquility. If, however, you are looking for that something extra special, we would definitely not hesitate to try a new designer luxury Yurt. Surrounded by the area's beautiful woodland, the yurts offer spectacular views across the clear blue waters below and will definitely give you those moments you will never forget.

