KERRIGAN + BERRY

SHIRAZ 2018

Frankland River in a super year; what more could you want? Well what you get is a super wine displaying all the seamless elegance and flavour intensity of this great shiraz region. Super-saturated intensity of dark spicy plum, licorice and dark chocolate. Bright and brilliant, with about 45 percent new oak to get everything in the right zone and balance. (Best drinking Now to 2033)

Ray Jordan, September 2021

It's a lovely wine in the glass – dark cherry with crimson edges – medium weight and looks as if it was bottled yesterday.

A brooding bouquet – ironstone, cloves and black pepper. Dried blackberries and oak-spice. It's savoury and focused – dips its lid to the Old World.

My goodness it's a sensational first sip. A tease of sweet, perfectly ripe shiraz fruit hemmed in by that spice and structure we meet on the nose. There's aniseed; dried cranberries; and red plums – a heady mix of flavours, uncluttered by oak and supported by soft tannins. Its red cherry acidity drives the finish.

A terrific medium weight expression – more framework than flesh – drink now.
