WHY COPPER & SILVER?

On Conductivity and Cooking:

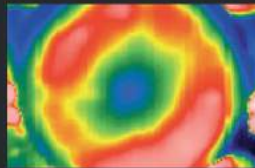

Silver, closely followed by Copper, are by far the best thermal conductors among all metals in the Universe as we know it.

Copper

What it entails for cookware is that the heat coming from the heat source will not heat the cookware locally (from where the fire hits, typically a spot in the bottom) but wherever the heat source hits the silver / copper product from will not matter as the heat will travel all over the cookware including the walls and the lid to radiate the heat inside just like an oven would do it.

SOY's Heritage © Warranty

Heritage Warranty on all Soy Products

All of the Soy products are subject to their signature "Heritage Warranty" in each and every aspect, from the lining to the material.

The warranty is not only valid for the lifetime of the buyer, but will also keep full validity for the generations that come after him or her.

All the user has to do is to register the serial number stamped on the bottom of the cookware product with the manufacturer (instructions included on the information sheet).

The Soy company also offers free of charge maintenance for each product once a year.

Please consult your sales representative for more information on this subject.
