As a teacher of 50 years I found many helpful things in this packet that I could really use. It covers things like forms for student information, printable cards, a lesson planner, plus a record page that helps you keep track of all the lessons you have done and much more. I highly recommend this binder!

-Wendy

The teacher's extras section is just what I have been looking for - the birthday cards and welcome to class letter are simple gestures that will make a child feel loved and cared for!

Also, having emergency info, games, and activity pages on the ready for a last minute substitute teacher will be such a relief.

As a children's ministry coordinator, this bundle is a valuable tool.

-Libby

This is a wonderful tool for getting organized in the Sunday School classroom, and for staying on target. The planner also helps to vary the different activities so the teacher does not over-use just one. This bundle can be used with any curriculum.

Wonderful idea!

4. ATTACK THE CASTLE GAME

- Materials Needed:
- A list of 15 questions that pertain to your lesson (more if you have more than one class)
 - Two copies of the castle pieces below, one for each team (plus additional copies if you will have more than two teams) There are two castles to choose from, each with 15 pieces.
 - Tape
- Set Up:
- Cut the castle pieces apart and keep them in separate bags (one castle per team)
- Directions:
- Divide your class into two or more teams.
 - Give each team a bag with the castle pieces in it and some tape. Have each team "build" their castles by taping the pieces to the dry erase or chalkboard.
 - Ask the first team a question. If they answer correctly, they get to remove a piece from their opponents' castle.
 - Ask the second team a question. If they answer correctly, they get to attack the first team's castle.
 - Last castle standing (any part left up) wins.

Suggestion: This is another game that is great to print, cut, and laminate for future use.
