ASX Announcement

15 September 2020

Highlights

- APH launches new hemp-based face mask, which provides 99.9% microbial reduction
- APH to supply major Australian and International retailers with hemp-based PPE products, including new face masks and hemp-infused hand sanitiser
- The value of orders for these PPE products is more than $315,000 in this quarter

Australian Primary Hemp Limited (ASX: APH) (“APH” or the “Company”) is pleased to announce the launch of a hemp-based face mask PPE product. The Company will immediately commence supplying this new range of Hemp-based PPE products to Australian and international retailers.

The Company’s range of PPE products, which includes the new hemp-based face mask and hemp-infused hand sanitiser, have been developed in response to growing concern over the environmental impact of traditional PPE masks and other disposable accessories.

APH’s hemp-based face masks are reusable, biodegradable, and sustainably-sourced. The face masks comprise three layers of hemp and hemp-blended material, which deliver a 99.9% decrease in microbial count according to leading certification company SGS.

The hand sanitiser is infused with Australian Primary Hemp seed oil and Australian native bush mint balm to boost its fragrant, antiseptic, and moisturising properties. The hand sanitiser product has antiseptic and moisturising qualities while complying with World Health Organisation (WHO) standards.

Orders for these PPE products are valued at more than $315,000 to date, and APH will commence supplying the face masks to Australian and international retailers immediately. APH's popular hemp-infused hand sanitiser is already available for sale online.
