Youth Classes
In 1961 a group of artists organized an outdoor art show, and an astonishing 3,000 people came. These artists began to organize, and the Visual Arts Center was built in phases as money was raised. The doors officially opened in 1989.

Today, the Visual Arts Center (VAC) provides the finest art classes, instructors and exhibit opportunities for members and visitors. Courses are designed for all ages and skill levels and the VAC offers classes and workshops throughout the year in a wide variety of visual art media. Basic art supplies for oil, watercolor, acrylics, drawing and pottery, plus premade class kits, are available for sale along with VAC logo items, snacks, and member rental storage lockers.

ART EDUCATION PROGRAMS

CLASS DATES & TIMES
Class day of the week and times suggested for each instructor are according to their preferred teaching schedule, however, the schedule does change from time to time based on classroom availability. SUSAN SHORE

Susan had creative parents and siblings and started her art career in middle school with Paper Mache ducks. Recently, her efforts have been centered on sculpture and creating a new method for sculpting 3D art forms. In 2002, Susan discovered Apoxie Sculpt, a self-hardening polymer clay that she combines with her unique method of creating armatures out of floral wire and the Sunday newspaper. Susan is the author of “Adventures in Sculpting,” and teaches classes to create animals, jewelry, flowers, and other abstract items, as well as any other art form her students want to create.

APOXIE SCULPTURE

Learn how to sculpt over wire frame, on wood or canvas using 2-part Apoxie clay. It is non-toxic, waterproof and can be drilled, sanded, and painted. In addition, you learn how to repair your treasures. Using a 3-step process you can create decorative objects of all kinds including flowers, vases, wall hangings, birds, bowls, fishes, small and large animals. Easy & fun. Supply List online. Material fee of $37 paid to Instructor

JOANNE STRAMARA

Joanne was born in rural Pennsylvania and moved to Florida in 2006 to capture the sea, sky, flora and fauna of the area. She is happiest studying, sketching, and painting. Joanne studied art at Kutztown University and Wyomissing Institute, and with many local and national art instructors. Her favorite medium is watercolor, and her love of experimentation coupled with an explosive use of color creates a unique style. She is a signature member of Suncoast Watercolor Society and one of the co-owners of Sea Grape Gallery in Punta Gorda. Her artwork has won many awards in Southwest Florida and is in collectors’ homes everywhere, from Nova Scotia to the Florida Keys. Joanne spends her time creating and teaching in Charlotte and Sarasota Counties.
