10 clean AF beauty brands you should be using

When it comes to beauty -- what you put on your skin *matters,* considering it is the biggest organ your body has. It's important to be mindful of what exactly you're putting on your skin because believe it or not, your body absorbs around 64 percent of chemicals placed on it. No wonder *clean beauty* is having a moment.

And with the presence of social media, it's safe to say the clean beauty movement isn't going away anytime soon. But with buzzwords like "eco-friendly" and "botanical," how do you know which brands to trust? That's why we've rounded up our favorite all-natural beauty brands tested by AOL editors.

These products are free of harmful ingredients such as sulfates, parabens formaldehyde and more! Check out the slideshow below for our top picks.
