Makeup Artists Say These Will Be the Trendiest Summer Lipstick Shades

Everything gets a little brighter in summer, whether that's our hair, our healthy skin, or our makeup. As for the latter, vivid pops of color seem to reign supreme year after year, although the exact hues will differ according to trend. Take, for example, the 15 hottest makeup palettes for summer. If you scroll through them all, you'll see that warm desert reds and pinks, along with varying shades of marine blue, are this year's top eye shadow trends.

That's all well and good, but what about lip color? That answer is a little harder to come by, due to the literal thousands of different shades that line drugstore aisles and sit atop high-end shelves. That's why we reached out to the pros—three expert makeup artists who could forecast this season's trendiest shades based on skin tone. From deep skin tones to fair, we love their picks.

According to makeup artist Ashley Rebecca, deep skin tones have unlimited opportunities when it comes to statement colors this summer. "Deep skin tones are going to go bold, with berries, with red, anything that makes a statement," she says. "From hot orange-reds to deeper fuchsia tones, there are so many colors dark skin tones can play with this summer!" She recommends this juicy wine-colored lip whip from Kari Gran.
