

Kari Gran skincare – REVIEW & GIVEAWAY

JAN 6, 2014

Kari Gran Skin Care (includes giveaway!)

I have said it before, I am a pretty lucky lady to try and to use all the gorgeous natural and organic skincare ranges that are floating around out there.

My latest discovery is KARI GRAN skincare.

Kari Gran describe themselves as an eco-luxe skin care brand providing a simple, elegant, all natural skin care solution that works flawlessly for any age and skin type. I can 100% agree with this...

Not to mention that they use the highest quality organic, wild harvested and non-GMO ingredients. No paraban, synthetic or chemical toxins in these black beauties.

Created by a self confessed (the best kind!) beauty junkie. A kindred spirit like myself who has been obsessed with beauty products since her teens. I've been more obsessed with skincare specifically so this works out well.

After Kari was diagnosed with an autoimmune disorder in her late twenties she became a conscious consumer as I like to call it, and began paying attention to what she was putting on her skin. Why does it always take a blow to our health before we start and take it seriously hey?!

Discovering that anything you put directly on your skin is absorbed right into the blood stream, it turns out, the beauty products Kari were using weren't so pretty after all. Instead, chemical concoctions...many of them hormone disruptors. This is the case with majority of commercial brands babes, please be aware!

This is a classic story of when one can't find what they are looking for, best you go off and create it your damn self! Kari decided to incorporate her own personal back- to-basics approach to elegant skin care by identifying and sourcing the fundamental ingredients essential to skin health and began creating.

Originally whipping things up in the kitchen for herself, it was her longtime friend (they met as they both had successful careers as real estate brokers..bit different) and now couldn't-do-it-without-you business partner Lisa that convinced her to move beyond her kitchen and make batches of the eco-skin care products for friends. Clearly a good idea thanks Lisa, now the gals run the booming business together.

Inspiration or what!
