

EDITORS' PICKS: JUNE'S BEST NATURAL BEAUTY LAUNCHES

Summer's in gorgeous full bloom now, ever since that epic solstice-full moon combo, and we're officially in the midst of BBQs, watermelon towel-lounging pool parties, beach time, and rooftop yoga. What goes perfectly with all of our fave warm weather events? Just-as-seasonal beauty products.

Making our editors' favorites this month are all-natural mascaras in eye-popping colors, oil for ingrowns (yes, those ingrowns), and an all-purpose de-funking mist for your hands and yoga mat—along with plenty of other essentials that we're happily slathering, spritzing, and toting around.

Make room in your summer beauty routine for the 8 new products that we're obsessed with this month.

6/9

Photo: Kari Gran

Kari Gran Three Sixty Five SPF 28, $48

Women who “just want something that works” clamor for this curated in-the-know organic beauty line, which is undoubtedly how this daily use sunscreen came to be. While it goes on super zinc-y white, it absorbs really quickly. It feels like you're wearing a light skin-care serum, which is apropos since it has nourishing avocado and macadamia nut oils in it, too. Makeup layers over it beautifully, so protecting your skin from harmful UV rays isn't a chore.

<http://www.wellandgood.com/good-looks/editors-favorite-natural-beauty-products-june/slide/6/>