

Cimmerian Swimsuit Photoshoots

Bronzed Swimwear Ads

Demure Poolside Editorials

Chromatic Swimwear Captures

Glamorous Performer Editorials

Fossilized Swimwear Collections

Must See WTF OMG LoL Cute Nerdy Hot Bookmark

72 Related Photos

John Ibbits on ★★★★★ Star
Twitter Google+

The 'Prey' Line from Vanwolff is Worth the Hunt

Published: Feb 26, 2013
References: thebrunettesfashion.blogspot and vanwolff

The new 'Prey' line from Vanwolff, a newly established swimwear label from award-winning designer Andrew Maxin, not only showcases the beauty of the male form, but also celebrates the anatomy of aquatic life with the collection's series of x-ray, photo-print designs.

Frogs, Piranhas and shells – and my personal favorite, the seahorse design – are just a few of some of the skeletal forms one can make a splash with when hitting the beach this summer season. Made in Los Angeles, the label already carries a certain cool factor with its roots, but the hot designs and even hotter tailoring are what truly make the 'Prey' line worth hunting for.

For those wanting to sport a style a little less edgy, Vanwolff also makes an 'Essentials' line of swimwear that is just as revealing, even if it doesn't include the x-ray print of a snake.

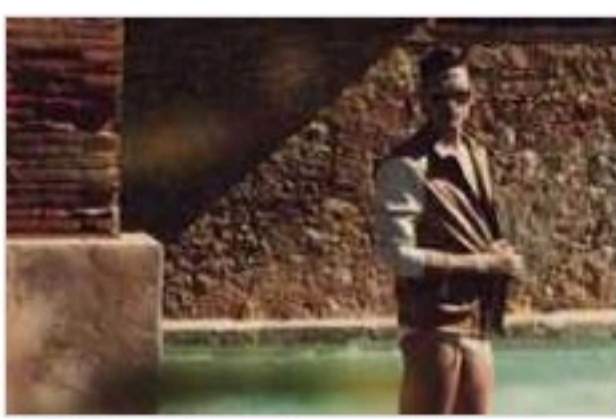

Stoic Swimmer Photoshoots

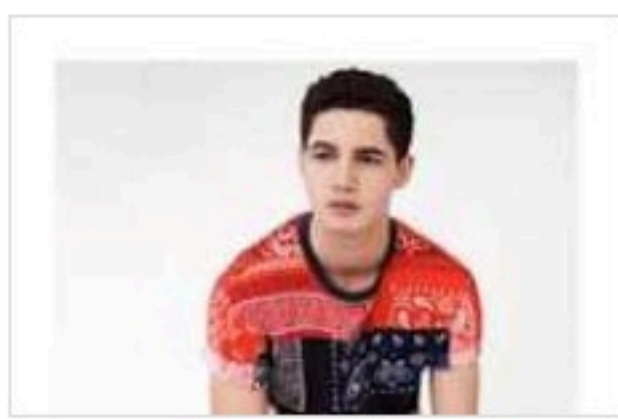

Heavyweight-Champ Couture

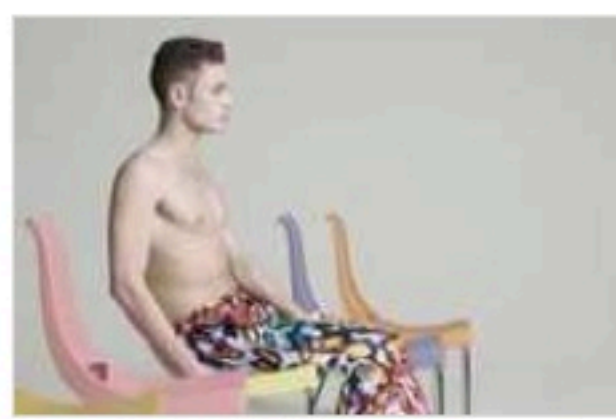

Striking Swimmer Portraits

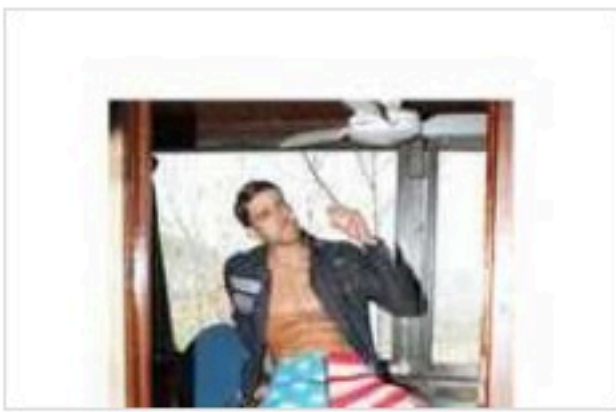

Retro Poolside Pictorials

Bandana-Patterned Sportswear

Fashionable Furniture Campaigns

Couture Camper Editorials

California Speedo Shoots

Botanically Patterned Swim Trunks

Show More