Hyperlink

In principle, direct hyperlink to "Chicken Art" is allowed to everyone. Note however, that we may request removal of the link to our site if the contents of your linking site are contrary to the purpose of my site. Please inform me when you have established a link to my site.

Sharing

Sharing material on social media is encouraged, but I request that you link back to this website when you do. If you use the Facebook Share buttons the material will link back automatically. If you download a photo and then want to share it or make it your Facebook profile/cover photo, I request that you please add my website link (<https://chickenart.com>) to your post somewhere.

Sharing is important to me, as I am an independent-artist small business and I want other people to come see my website. It's one of the most important ways for me to get the word out, so I do appreciate it when you share.

Please be aware however that sharing is very different from USING my photos to print out and sell, to make crafts to sell, to use in your printed material, or to offer to other people for download/sale. Such use is expressly prohibited. You CAN get in trouble for this. (Yes, even if you didn't know any better.) Please also see this link about how to legally use online photos. If you have any questions at all, please feel free to contact Sarah Hudock (me) at info@chickenart.com.
