This coffee is an expression of structure and formation -- an experiment in taking differing elements to create a new complementary arrangement with new purpose, while retaining the elegance and complexity of the starting pieces. Our approach is to focus on simplicity. Remove the unnecessary and let the details work together to create the patchwork. As coffee leaves and new coffee becomes available, this coffee will also constantly be changing. But it will always be simple, yet complex. It will always be inviting, yet deep. It will always be strong, yet elegant.

"Good design is as little design as possible. Less, but better - because it concentrates on the essential aspects, and the products are not burdened with non-essentials. Back to purity, back to simplicity." -Dieter Rams
