

ANGELICO

SERUMS FOR ALL SEASONS

Your skin changes with the seasons. It can become dry and distressed in winter months, oily in humid conditions or sensitive when subject to stress. Sometimes it may feel 'mature' simply because you have neglected yourself or 'lived it up' a little too much! Sometimes your skin won't know quite what it is. A little dry in some areas and oily in others resulting in what we know as combination skin.

Listen to your skin. Give it what it craves. Don't be afraid to switch serums from time to time. Like a plant that hasn't been watered for a long time, your skin will soak up serum to begin with but need less over time until you will see that it is happy and glowing with just a few drops of serum each morning and night.

Five expertly blended serums made from natural, active plant oils to address individual skin types. Use night and day as your daily moisturiser or as a boost to your regular moisturiser. Angelico Serums moisturise, nourish, balance and restore your skin to its natural, beautiful self.
