OUR HISTORY

MOMOTARO APOTHECA™ was co-founded by Lindsay Wynn and Taylor Samuelsen in 2017 in Portland, Oregon USA. Early products were born out of an experience with BV and Yeast infections that Lindsay dealt with. After becoming frustrated with conventional medicine, the two worked together to develop plant based products that could address these issues.

WHO WE ARE

Momotaro Apotheca is a Certified Organic vaginal wellness company that supports the physiological challenges and quality of life issues associated with the nuanced aspects of sexual and reproductive health.

Our products are always plant based, Certified Organic, and intentionally crafted to be a part of a positive and compassionate conversation about how gentler, systemically more effective, natural products are essential for health, wellbeing, and self care. We select ingredients that support yeast infections, bacterial vaginosis, and discomfort and irritation from sex, clothing, and exercise. Our products are made in small batches in Portland, Oregon.
