

MAISON OAK

The smoking of the boards together with the white oil gives this floor a look that is blue with white pores. The smoking creates big differences in color between the boards. Handscraped, may contain knots and cracks. Grande products may continue to develop their rustic nature after the floor has been installed; splits and cracks that occur after installation are normal and should be considered part of the timbers natural character. This product must be oiled after installation and prior to use.
