FIRST LET'S MAKE THINGS THAT LAST.

The Emeco 1006 Navy Chair was first commissioned in the 1940s by the U.S. Navy for use on warships – the contract even specified that it had to be able to withstand torpedo blasts. Today our chairs are still made in the U.S.A., of 80% recycled aluminum, and are made by hand, by Emeco craftsmen using the original 77 step process. The world's best architects and designers collaborate with us to design chairs that are built and guaranteed to last a lifetime.

As we apply what we've practiced in the past, we are looking toward the future. We are on a mission to make a positive impact on the environment. Our goals are to use waste material in our products, use as little energy as possible in our manufacturing, generate a minimum of waste in the process, and build strong, durable, beautiful chairs that last through generations. We've been on the same mission since 1944 and we will continue to search for new ways to recover and utilize discarded materials and make products that last.

A perfect match.

The Parrish Art Museum is acclaimed for its barnlike building designed by Herzog and de Meuron and the elegantly minimal interiors and furniture designed by German designer Konstantin Grcic. "Emeco is simply the only company I could think of who could bring a nice mix for this interior concept, specialists in aluminum, delivering another kind of material appearance, environmentally sound, perfect for both indoor and outdoor and being such a truly American company – it was a perfect match." - Konstantin Grcic

The heart of the matter.

The Parrish Collection is a family of chairs and tables with a subtle design and a strong technical core. The underside "heart" was designed specifically for Parrish to interconnect the elements of the chair to form a strong, integral anatomy.

Side chair and lounge chair.

The Parrish Collection features frames in recycled aluminum combined with three seat options, reclaimed polypropylene, leather or sustainably harvested local wood from Lancaster, PA. Table tops are offered in a variety of sizes and materials for indoor and outdoor use.
