TRENEL MÂCON-VILLAGES, 2021

27.99

Founded in 1928 by Henri Claudius Trénel, Maison Trénel is one of the most ancient and well-known houses of the Beaujolais and Mâcon wine regions of France. For almost 100 years, they have been guided by seeking authenticity in fruit and terroir. This beautiful Chardonnay has floral and citrus notes on a soft and round yet crisp palate. Fermented in cement and stainless steel, completing malolactic fermentation; this gives the wine freshness, richness and depth without being heavy-handed. The vineyards are varied with clay and limestone soils between the Côte Chalonnaise and the rock of Solutré, giving the wine its wonderful balance.

COTTANERA ETNA ROSSO, 2022

26.99

100% Nerello Mascalese from 25-30 year old vines on the northern slope of Etna, where the soil is sandy volcanic ash. Francesco Cambria bought 100 hectares of vines and hazelnut groves in 1962, seeking a retreat from his career. At first focused on hazelnuts, he sold off the grapes to the local co-op. Over time, and through the generations, the focus evolved to today where the winery is led by siblings Mariangela and Francesco Cambria with focused passion for indigenous varietals and the distinct Etna terroir. The Etna Rosso is from 4 of their 5 Contradas, giving a pure and focused expression of Nerello Mascalese in this distinct terroir.

GILBERT CELLARS ALLOBROGES, 2022

27.99

A blend of Grenache, Syrah and Mourvèdre all from the Sugar Loaf Vineyard. The Gilbert family history is deep and long in the Yakima Valley where they have historically been farmers of apples, pears and stone fruits from the 1890s. Now fifth generation, the family bought a vineyard in 2002 and instead of tearing out the vines to plant more apples, they made a turn and ventured into wine. At first a hobby, this small winery with deep roots has become a shining star and heart of the Yakima community. The Allobroges bottling is a nod to Rhone style reds, with notes of blackberry, black tea and lavender on a fruit-forward, terroir driven frame.
