6 Label ALERT

This season we're betting on vacay-ready accessories and minimal summer dressing

IF YOU LOVE: Raffia clutches
THEN YOU WILL LOVE: Nomada Accessories by Sana Shakoor
WHO: Mumbai-based designer Shakoor studied at prestigious institutions such as The National Institute of Fashion Technology and London College of Fashion and went on to work for the Future Group. She then began Nomada, an accessories line that amalgamates unconventional materials such as leather, metal and wood.

WHY: These covetable bags bring in a refreshing Tropicana aesthetic with deftly embroidered motifs of toucans and palm trees. The designer works dedicatedly with women's foundations to employ ethical production from the creation of the bag to the finishing of its packaging.

WHERE: Clove, Mumbai; Como, Goa; Galeries Lafayette, Dubai; Minis Boutique, Oman; House of Fraser, Abu Dhabi.

WEAR: These nifty clutches are perfect arm-candy for your next beach destination; pair them with a crisp linen shirt and floaty wrap-dresses.

IF YOU LOVE: Delicate summer separates

THEN YOU WILL LOVE: Buna by Pallavi Shantam

WHO: Shantam studied at NIFT, Gandhinagar and dabbled with visual merchandising and fashion consultancy, working with several high street and luxury brands. In a bid to start a new chapter she canvassed through the culturally rich expanses of Kutch, Rajasthan and Bengal that inspired her to start her womenswear label.

WHY: A reflection of slower traditions and Zen sensibilities Buna creates global clothing focusing on intricate details, artisanal techniques and hand-woven textiles such as jamdani, mulmul and khadi.

WHERE: Amethyst, Chennai; Cinnamon, Bangalore; Ogaan, New Delhi; Melange, Mumbai; Anonym, Hyderabad; www.bunastudio.com

WEAR: Accessorising possibilities with these languid garments are endless. We'd suggest layering them with a utilitarian jacket for an androgynous spin or throwing on a pair of espadrilles for the ideal brunch look.
