Designers come from all schools of thought. Some choose to exhibit their new work on the runways, some don't, and some others prefer to showcase only select work. Well into the hottest months of the year, you may have noticed a dearth of cosy, summer-friendly looks in your wardrobe. Update your shelves with the same enthusiasm you have for planning that vacation or keeping yourself hydrated yourself this summer. We've rounded up all the designer collections that weren't seen on the runways, but still deserve a place in your walk-in, for you to pick from.
