1

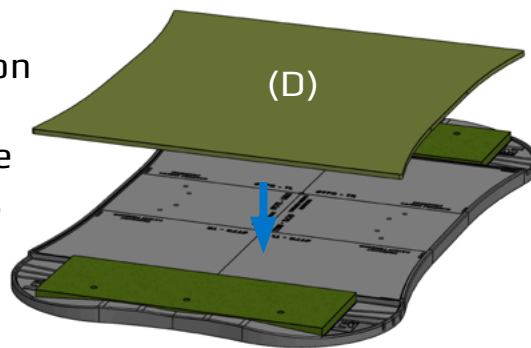

Ensure the ground is properly prepared for placement of the rubber base. The surface should be firm, packed and level. Concrete, asphalt, patios or decking are ideal. (Do not place on grass.)

Place the rubber base pieces (A, B, C) on the ground together as shown and interlock the pieces to create a solid base.

3

Lay the stance turf (D) down on the surface of the base so the edges all align.

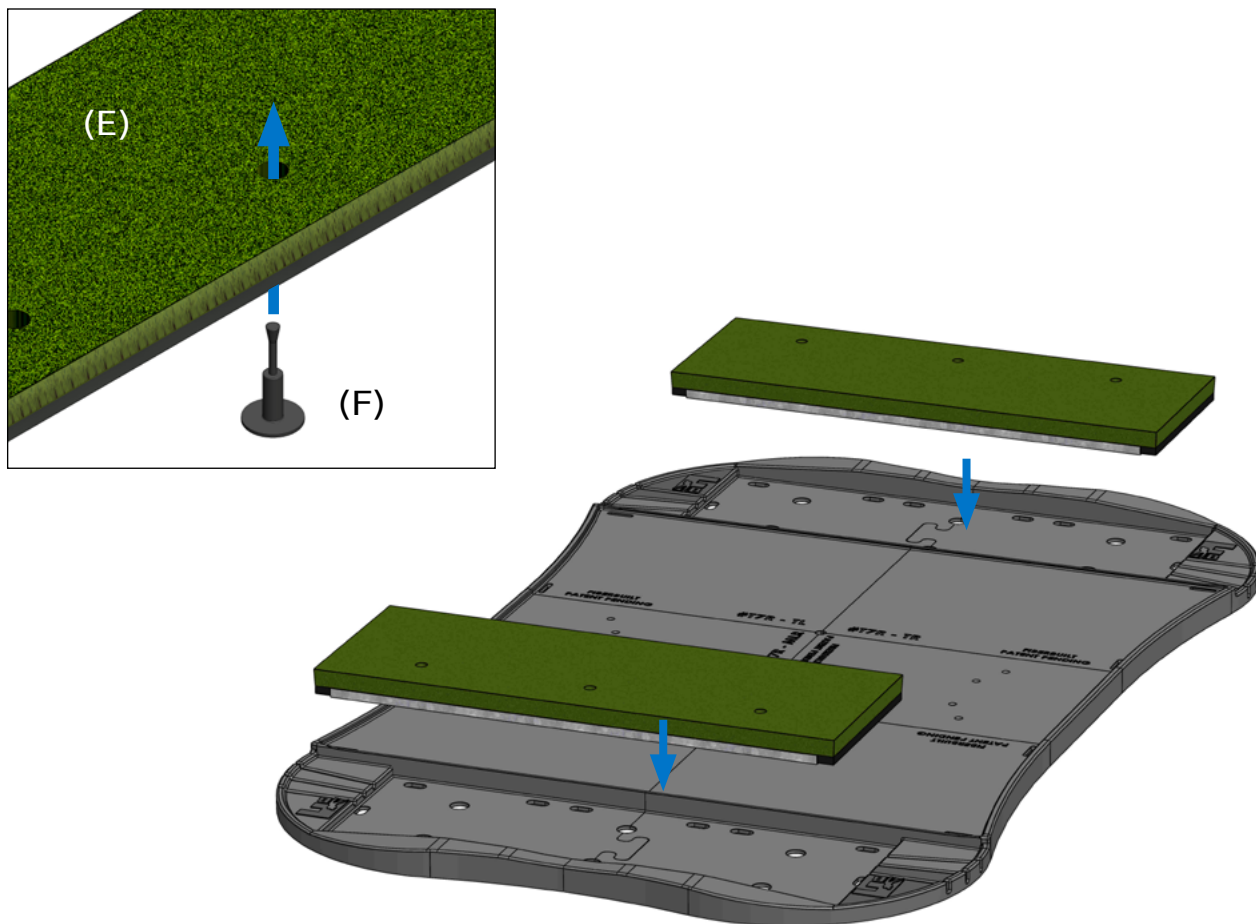

Place the ball tray (H) in front of the mat for easy scooping of balls onto the hitting surface.

NOTE: We ship our turf folded in the box for the most expedient shipping. During transit, the turf pieces may curl slightly. If your turf is curled upon delivery, we recommend laying the turf pieces flat in the sun for a couple of hours to allow them to relax and flatten prior to laying them down on the base.

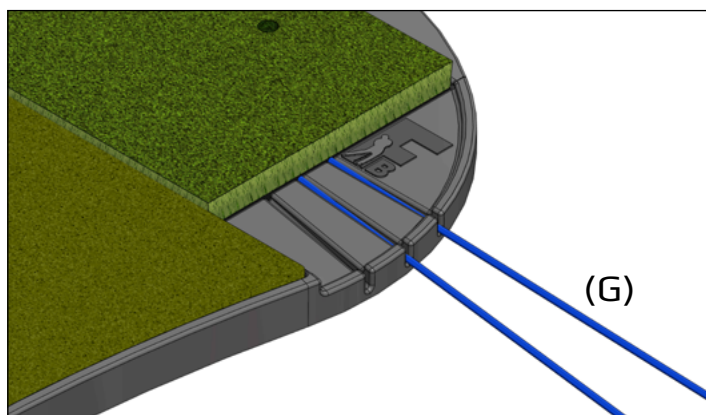

2

Insert the Adjustable Tees (F) into the desired holes in the Fiberbuilt Grass Hitting Panels (E) from underneath before laying the panels into the indented areas in the base assembly.

4

Rods (G) can be placed in the grooves in the base beside the grass panel to guide swing path and can also be placed on the stance mat to guide alignment, swing path and ball position.
