Gesell Institute is Nominated for a 2013 Education Policy/Research Bammy Award

New Haven, CT (April 11, 2013) – Gesell Institute of Child Development is pleased to announce that it has been nominated for a Bammy Award, which is presented by the Academy of Education Arts and Sciences International. The Academy consists of a Board of Governors, Council of Peers and an Executive Committee. Members of the Board select award honorees from a list that is created by the Council of Peers.

The Bammy Awards are an annual, national celebration of education, educational programs and the dedicated educators and researchers whom are making a difference in the industry every day. Final honoree decisions will be made in May, with a formal ceremony in Washington, DC in September. Gesell Institute has been nominated in the Education Policy/Research category. Over 30 categories are recognized, ranging from Best Afterschool Programs to Superintendents. “Being nominated for a Bammy Award is so special,” says Dr. Guddemi the Institute’s Executive Director. “It proves that our organization has recently stood out to the Academy, and amongst our peers.”

As a Bammy Award nominee, Gesell Institute is also eligible to win an Educator’s Voice Award, which is voted by the online education community, not the Academy. The public can nominate the Institute for this award until June 28, 2013. To vote for Gesell Institute please visit www.bammyawards.com, click on 2013 Nominees on the homepage and then search for Gesell Institute.

About Gesell Institute

Gesell Institute of Child Development is an independent non-profit organization that has been associated with how children grow and learn since 1950. The work of Arnold Gesell, PhD, MD (1888-1961) had a profound influence on the field of child development. Based on Dr. Gesell’s pioneering work documenting infant and child growth and development, Gesell Institute’s programs and publications now help parents and educators understand the ages and stages of childhood. Professional development and parent workshops cover a broad range of topics regarding child behavior, healthy growth and development, and positive learning outcomes. For additional information and resources, visit www.gesellinstitute.org. Gesell Institute is on Facebook, Twitter, LinkedIn, and YouTube.
