Symphony of Life Card

Attunement and Purpose

How often have you yearned for quietness and stillness within your consciousness, a freedom from the flow of thoughts and desires passing into your Third-dimensional consciousness?

Often you take hold of some idea, a desire to do something that gives you pleasure and a sense of achievement following it through to its conclusion. However, when the end is reached, sometimes there is a bit of a let down; somehow the culmination of the achievement has lost its glamour. Desires last no longer than an hour before they are replaced by another bauble, because you're like a baby who reaches out to take every new object dangled before its eyes.

Being driven by your senses, you flit from one objective to another without any purpose other than satisfying a fleeting desire, to end your state of boredom, because the Astral Illusion has little to offer that's of any depth.

There is only one thing that awaits your discovery, which is the mystery of your Being, and how often do you really search for this fulfillment?

"I know there's something special for me to do here!" You think, and you trust that it will be important, something which others will look up to you with acclaim.

Know that it's your Personality and the Astral Illusion which works together to draw your desires in that direction.

This card reveals that your life is enacted through a prism, reflecting various life experiences, where in some of these experiences you were powerful, great, evil, pompous, and more often than not, unknown. You are one of billions of people who believe that this NOW is their special time, a time where they can be brilliant and wealthy and have all they desire. However, in essence this is your special time which means you have to stand aside from all previous experiences, because all your life experiences are One Life, One Light, One Being and every past experience is a segment in the curve of expression as you move your consciousness through the Astral

Illusion, becoming aware of how pointless its been, and now desiring to become ONE.

You've planned and detailed your frequency to function in the Third-dimension, moving through a series of earth-bodies, and you are tied to the oneness of your being. This plan is like a great symphony which you composed and it won't end until the last movement is complete and you are whole.

Are you now an important being? Are you well known? Does your photo regularly appear in the newspaper or on television? Are you one of the beautiful people? If so, what does this experience mean to you, and where is it in your symphony?

Are you searching through the trash cans looking for food? Do you sit on the sidewalk with a begging bowl? Or do you look out the back window of your "Mercedes" at everyone you consider less fortunate and don't share your level of importance?

No matter what position you hold in life you're enacting your symphony, and just how you play the instrument through your Personality, is how the sounds move through this dimension.

"Your focus on the Third-dimension may last for ten earth years or ninety, and even after your body dies your consciousness remains at its present level of consciousness, soon to return to complete the symphony. When, during this life-experience, you raise your consciousness to a higher level than what you started then you come one step closer to completing your symphony.

Constantly you allow your Ego to act as a prism which separates the Light into many colors, which distorts the frequencies and leads you on the path away from One Light and deeper into Illusion." (Enter the Vortex as One Light)

This card depicts your separation and fragmentation into many lives colored by the prism. Remember that it's your higher consciousness which composed the music for your experience... its experience.

Your life has intervals, movements, high and lows, and your consciousness flows through them as they express the essence and purpose of your higher consciousness until the last experience reaches its predestined completion. You're unaware of its direction and often mistake some of the rhythmic changes as indications that your life is out of control, because you're unaware of who composed the music and its intent.

"Often your life appears to be a mix of uncompleted desires. What you think you want and need is often thwarted, and in your frustration you suffer and blame outside influences, such as governments, family, friends, nature and God for your misfortune. You're told by the Astral Illusion that you must take charge of your life and raise yourself above such disastrous happenings, and then you won't be buffeted by these attacks on your security.

"Sometimes the composition is short, and for others long and demanding, but it can't be altered until it's played out. There's no pause or stop button, because it must continue until it reaches its conclusion.

"There's only one composition which your higher consciousness has composed, and it's divided into segments, and is played fully over many life experiences. However, often you allow your Personality and the Astral Illusion to pervert the flow by interference. This is due to your sleep state of consciousness which creates a repetition of the same events making it necessary for you to return to allow the completion, and then in one last experience you play the whole symphony and become one in Light.

"You've never been greater than what you are now, because all other life experiences have led to now. When you move into the frequency of consciousness which expresses your purpose through your higher consciousness, you experience the harmony of now. You will no longer be buffeted by disruptive energies, but you will follow your experience in a prepared way." (Enter the Vortex as One Light)

The words from Enter the Vortex as One Light capture the essence of this card, which is one of great importance for your daily movement into the Vortex. It doesn't matter whether you're rich or poor, starving or gluttonous, because you're playing your symphony. However, it's now with a difference, because by understanding, you're able to move through this segment and know its meaning.

This card captures the essence of life, not only one life experience, but the total experience. Take the symbolism of this card into your consciousness and meditate on its meaning in your life... here and now. What are you playing... it's your composition and uniquely yours, so look within and follow the daily meditation, which this card imparts, and move deeper into wholeness.

Meditation...

Begin with the morning thoughts:

How long have I continued to live the same lyrics daily, waking in the morning, hearing the same song over and over?

It's time to reach out... to feel the pulse of my life... to begin to move my consciousness to the end of the composition. For too long I've lost the harmony of my original purpose, but now it's time to play out the final movement... I'm ready to end all desire... all that holds me in this illusion of my own making.

As I become aware and feel the greatness, fullness and purpose of my own Being, I desire nothing more than that, because my Personality will bow down to the beauty of the Light which flows from Being.

In the evening I listen to the songs of the birds, because they complete their life song daily.

Daily I become more attuned with my purpose, because it's my song for the Earth.

I feel the essence of my song, because it's meant for the Earth, and the Earth receives it through its body to which I'm aligned... as my direct contact with all the Earth's energies.

As I perceive the beauty which the earth returns to me, and enlivened by the Earth, my symphony never ends because it becomes a part of the Earth's consciousness.
