The Principle of the Foot Peeling Pack

The epidermis is the outmost layer of our skin. It's made of dead skin cells and protects our skin from harmful factors such as heat and sunlight.

The dead skin cells are supposed to come off naturally and be replaced by new ones, but sometimes they accumulate and develop into a thick and hard layer. KOCOSTAR's Foot Peeling Pack helps to remove the outdated cells and reveal soft and fresh skin.

The key ingredients of Foot Peeling Pack are glycolic acid, lactic acid, alcohol and arginine.

Glycolic acid and lactic acid are Alpha Hydroxy Acids (AHAs). They break the bonds between skin cells and exfoliate dead skin. Alcohol softens the outer layer of the skin so dead skin cells can easily come off. Arginine, an alkaline amino acid, neutralizes AHAs to balance the pH level of the formula and prevent potential skin damage.

In addition to that, carefully selected herbal extracts hydrate, soothe and refresh your skin to minimize irritation.

That's it! There's no secret to our cruelty-free, paraben-free and hypoallergenic foot treatment. But you will be surprised to see it work wonders on your feet.

Don't Overlook Dead Skin on Your Feet

It's not only our face that needs daily care. Our feet also need good care each day to stay healthy and beautiful.

Our feet toil and labor as we sit, stand, walk or run, enduring the force of gravity. This results in thickened skin, also known as callus. It gradually builds up and hardens to cause discomfort or pain – and at some level, it starts to crack and even bleed.

Exfoliate away the nuisance with KOCOSTAR's Foot Peeling Pack. Carefully formulated with natural ingredients, our hassle-free foot treatment will restore soft and smooth feet you can reveal with confidence.

Why Does Dead Skin Cell Build Up Under Our Feet

The outmost layer of our skin is made of dead skin cells. They protect our body from harmful factors until they get replaced by new cells. But when our body is exposed to repetitive friction and pressure, dead skin cells begin to accumulate and form a thick and hard layer. Our feet always support our body weight and withstand its pressure – and that's why they often develop callus and corn.

Why Should We Remove Dead Skin Cells?

Anyone can suffer from dry and hardened feet. It's not easy to remove the thick and tough layer off the feet once callus starts to develop. If you don't take care of your feet periodically, your feet will become rough and cracked and you may experience discomfort and pain while standing or walking. It can also lead to bleeding.

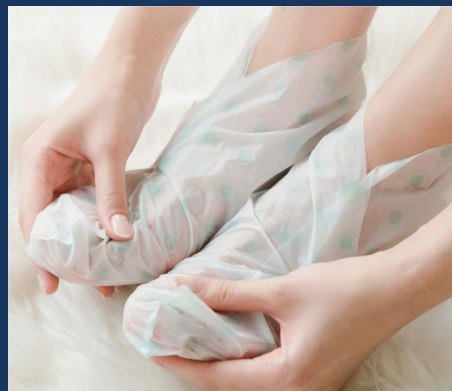

TIPS FOR USING FOOT PEELING PACK

- Be prepared. For best results, soak your feet in a tub of warm water for 15 minutes before using the kit.
- Apply on clean feet. Remove any nail polish, nail arts, and accessories from your feet. Then wipe your feet thoroughly.
- Follow the direction. Carefully read the direction and closely follow each step.
- Be patient. It takes 3 to 4 days for active ingredients to work through your skin. Once dead skin cells begin to drop out, the exfoliation will take about a week to complete. Depending on your skin type, however, the entire process may take up to 14 days.
- Keep your feet moist. If your feet are too dry, the result may not be satisfying. Taking a foot bath each evening with warm water can expedite the exfoliating process. Do NOT use hot water as it may harm your skin.
- No tools, please. You may gently rub off the falling skin with your hands, but do NOT force to peel or scrub with any tools.
- Remember after-care. Renewed skin is soft and weak. Following the treatment, apply sunscreen to your feet before exposing them to direct sunlight.
- Use once every month. The result will last about a month. Repeat once every month to keep your feet beautiful and glamorous.
