

twinkle, twinkle little star...

...do you know how loved you are?

There is a reason why we call our company Nature's Baby Organics; We won't make any product unless it contains at least 70% organic ingredients, while maintaining the same performance level as the leading non-organic competitors in the marketplace. But we're not just organic for the sake of being organic.

Many children and adult products in the marketplace typically contain known or suspected skin irritants. Organic and/or minimally processed ingredients often provide them with relief. Our products were specifically developed by a mother whose concern for her children's sensitive skin triggered the creation of our company. That's how Nature's Baby Organics came about. So we avoid, to the extent possible, the use of any ingredient that might be suspect.
