MEET YOUR DIRECTORS

Originally from the San Francisco Bay Area, husband and wife, David ("Rocky") and Elyse Roxander, have been teaching dance, directing and choreographing for over 30 years. They have trained and worked with children of all ages and abilities – from those seeking and attaining a professional career to those simply enjoying the process and the pride one feels from working on an art form and achieving their goals.

With a grand opening on September 9, 2009, this state-of-the-art ballet academy is dedicated to the memory of Mr. Roxander's mother, Jody White. Before her passing a promise was made that she would never be forgotten and that all of the children who came through the doors of Studio Roxander would know her. A dance teacher herself for over 55 years, she was and, through the Roxanders, will continue to inspire and educate thousands of children. It is our greatest wish that our studio environment will aid in instilling in our students a great respect and love for all art forms.

With a strong background in classical ballet and performing arts, both David and Elyse bring a tangible joy and love for dance and the theatre into the classroom.

Please visit our website for complete bios on Mr. and Mrs. Roxander and Jody White.
