

I Can Read

Before Reading	During Reading	After Reading
Q1: Let's look at the cover. What is the boy doing? A1: The boy is sitting on a chair by a fountain. He is reading a book. Q2: Why do you think the boy is happy? A2: The boy is happy because he likes reading.	Q1: What is the boy reading inside the house? A1: He is reading a cereal box and a recipe in the kitchen. He is reading the newspaper on the floor. Q2: What is the boy reading outside the house? A2: The boy on his bike is reading a stop sign. He is reading a letter near the mailbox. He is reading a road sign. He is reading a book in the backyard.	Q1: The boy can read. Can you read? A1: Yes! I can read. Q2: What can you read? A2: Possible answers: I can read books and signs. I can read cards and letters. I can read on the computer.

Special thanks to Sherri Mills, who graciously opened her home to us and provided lots of help.

I Can Read
© 1994 Creative Teaching Press Inc.
Written by Rozanne Lanczak Williams
Photographed by Keith Bergher

Revised Edition © 2017 Creative Teaching Press Inc.
Photographed by Michael Jarrett
Art Director: Moonhee Pak
Project Director: Stacey Faulkner

Published in the United States of America by:
Creative Teaching Press Inc.
6262 Katella Ave.
Cypress, CA 90630

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be reproduced in any form without the written permission of Creative Teaching Press Inc.

I Can Read

I can read the cereal box.

Cheerios® is a registered trademark of General Mills, Inc., used with permission of General Mills Marketing, Inc.

I can read the stop sign.