

The World in a Supermarket

Before Reading	During Reading	After Reading
Q1: What foods do you see on the cover of the book? A1: I see bread, cheese, olives, coffee, and tomatoes. I see bananas, pineapples, and other fruit. Q2: Why do you think that the bowls look like globes? A2: I think the bowls look like globes to show us that food comes from places all over the world.	Q1: Where do bananas and olives come from? A1: Bananas come from Honduras. Olives come from Greece. Q2: Where do pasta, cheese, pineapples, and coffee come from? A2: Pasta comes from Italy. Cheese comes from France. Pineapples come from Hawaii, and coffee comes from Brazil.	Q1: Where do the girl's tomatoes come from? A1: The girl's tomatoes come from her garden. Q2: How does all the food get to faraway places? A2: Possible answer: Trucks, ships, and airplanes take the food to faraway places.

The World in a Supermarket

Here are bananas from Honduras.

Here are olives from Greece.