

Dude-approved! From a shampoo made with BEER to a do-everything soap, guys share the grooming products they'd like to receive as gifts - just in time for Father's Day

- Father's Day is June 19, 2016
- FEMAIL rounds up grooming product gift ideas that men say they'd actually use
- Shop options starting at just $5

By SARAH FERGUSON FOR DAILYMAIL.COM

PUBLISHED: 16:39 EST, 14 June 2016 | UPDATED: 09:47 EST, 15 June 2016

Father's Day is less than a week away and if you're still struggling to find a present for the dad who has more ties and tools than he'll ever need, might we suggest considering the practical yet indulgent gift of grooming products?

Whether the man you're celebrating this Sunday relies on a no-frills bar of soap for everything or has a habit of stealing all of your mother's prized creams and serums, we've rounded up products that he'll not only appreciate, but actually use.

How do we know? We asked the men in our lives (and office) to give new moisturizers, cleansers, soaps and shaving creams a try and report back with their reviews.

Read on below for dude-approved, budget-friendly grooming products to fill dad's doppel kit with this Father's Day.

Real men wear moisturizer! FEMAIL rounds up grooming product gift ideas that dads like actor Chris Pratt (above), 36, who recently Instagrammed a video of himself in an on-set make-up chair, will actually use

© marlowe

Marlowe No. 121 Men's Facial Cleanser

After searching for a cleanser that effectively controls a man's oily skin, Chris, FEMAIL reporter Erica Tempesta's significant other, has found a winner in this nourishing yet detoxifying option.

'I used it after a long weekend in the sun and it felt refreshing almost immediately. It also does not make your skin dry, which is a pet peeve of mine,' he said.

$8

Shop