

SOI

METAMORPHOSIS
2021

We Delight in the beauty of the butterfly, but rarely admit the changes it has gone through to achieve that beauty.

-Maya Angelou

Transformative energies arise within as we inquire upon our values, lifestyle, and choices. Not excluded from these shifts, I've found myself concocting my ideal wardrobe- Garments you can sleep, lounge, work, and dine in. The notion of a perpetual daydream sparks a plethora of interpretations for versatile silhouettes, fabrics that feel soft to the touch, and pieces that will travel well without wrinkling. Textures and colors that counter questions of "why" with "why not" have served as a vessel to evolve my own sense of femininity and how the present day woman wants to dress & feel. There's a little bit of something for everyone, staying true to a new motto devised: For anywear and everywhere.

xo, Naïame

to, Norman